

LAY PLANS FOR CONFERENCE OF YOUNG PEOPLE

Executive Board of School Association
Discusses Training of Teachers.

The February session of the executive board of the Rock Island County Sunday School association was held last evening at the Y. W. C. A., being entertained at supper preceding the meeting by Miss Georgia First of Rock Island, Rock Island county superintendent of young people's work. Further plans looking to the establishment of a training school for Sunday school teachers already in the work were discussed under the leadership of E. C. Fisher, Rock Island superintendent of schools, but no definite policy outlined.

Following the executive session the officers met with representatives from the churches of Moline, East Moline and Rock Island, a group of wideawake young people having assembled to boost the coming young people's conference at a pay advertising campaign in existing advance registration of delegates. Seven cars will leave the Moline Y at 8:30 Sunday morning, and on the return about 1 o'clock a hot lunch will be served at the First Congregational church, when the young people will exchange experiences. The lower end of the county and the cities will be covered the following Sundays, last evening two of the groups staged an impromptu visit to a school, the audience representing the school, and promising speakers were revealed.

This is the first of young people conferences under the direction of the state young people's division head, D. H. Wing, the Illinois association not having a special department head for young people until this year. Three parallel conferences will be held in the state, and this vicinity is fortunate in having one of them brought to our doors. Speakers of national prominence will be heard, including R. A. Waite, international superintendent of young people's work, and Miss Elsie M. Clark of Minneapolis, formerly division head there of this work.

The movement is inter-denominational and the hearty cooperation of all the schools is asked and expected. It is expected that the conference will be attended by 400 delegates, Mercer, Henry, Whiteside, Carroll and Rock Island counties being especially interested in the conference in Moline. The Illinois tri-cities should lead in an "over-the-top" enrollment. "Let's go" is already the slogan inaugurated.

AT THE SPENCER SQUARE

The feudist battles of the son are faithfully reproduced in the big special picture, "In Old Kentucky," which features Anita Stewart, and which will be shown at the Spencer Square theatre balance of the week. It is being released by the First National Exhibitors' circuit. The story grows out of the old days of the moon-shiners' battles with the revenue agents, the mountaineers not being able to understand why they were not permitted to make their own whisky, and so defied the law continually. Then, when the government agents got on their trail, the mountaineers banded together and fought to the death. One of these terrific battles is shown in this picture. It is fought in the mountain district in the old feudal style, men hiding behind rocks and bushes, firing whenever they saw a lead exposed, or suspected that someone was lurking. Naturally no bullets were used when men fired point blank at each other, but they were used on occasion and the chips from rocks are seen flying where the bullets strike just above the men's heads. Men are seen, apparently hit, tumbling down the ravines into creeks, and falling on all sides. Desperate chances were taken by the players.

AT THE MAJESTIC

When Tom Mix, cowboy star of William Fox, went to Prescott, Ariz., to take scenes for his latest production, "The Cyclone," which is shown at the Majestic theatre tonight, he renewed an old friendship with Governor Thomas C. Campbell of Arizona, who was then a young man, and who was then a plain state tax assessor.

AT THE TRIAL

The theatre-going, as well as the reading public of the country generally, develop a certain characteristic taste for a particular brand of entertainment at periods. For some time past, and more than ever at present, they have been clamoring for mystery stories—especially those detective yarns with a big mystery element. The Vitaphone company with laudable foresight felt the public pulse on this when they started production on their new serial, "The Invisible Hand," starring none other than the popular Moreno, the first episode of which will be presented at the Rialto theatre today.

AT THE SPENCER SQUARE

Here is a detective story of the type demanded, filled to overflowing with pleasurable thrilling mystery. And to make it still better, a woman is one of the biggest elements of mystery in the serial. In fact, her characterization is the one around which most of the complex and baffling parts of the story revolve. Right in the midst of this mystery begins to assert itself, Moreno, in the role of John Sharpe, a famous detective, starts on a mission of wiping out a famous band of crooks. They counter-plot against him and he is captured. Just as death faces him, while helplessly bound and gagged, a mysterious hand—a woman—comes to his rescue as it claps a knife that severs his bonds and sets him free.
